HOW DID YOU HEAR OF BIOMAGNETISM? _____

What is 'Biomagnetic Pair' Therapy?

Discovered by Dr. Issac Goiz Duran, MD at University of Chapingo, Mexico City, in the 1980s, Biomagnetic Therapy is a scientifically derived method of healing. It works by balancing the pH acid/alkaline (hydrogen potential) of the body's fluids. When pH is normalized, the body can heal.

Researchers around the world have determined the positive influences of magnetic fields on pH, neurotransmitters, neuroregulators, hormones and enzymes in the body. The practitioner employs a unique and systematic binary dialogue technique to locate energetic points of imbalance, which are then influenced by a magnetic pair of low to medium intensity (1000-5000 gauss) static magnets.

What You Can Expect

Spanish language books are available on the various clinical findings of the therapy as well as the scientific theory to back up the often miraculous results. Most clients notice a difference after three sessions, others after the first session while some require five or more sessions before improvements are observed. Sessions last approximately two hours and are conducted with the client lying comfortably on a massage table. Very rarely, some people have reported healing reactions like headaches or fatigue for 24-48 hours after the therapy. This is the body's natural clearing of microbial and toxic debris through the excretion pathways and should not be considered a worsening of overall symptoms.

Terms of Our Service

You can help spread the word of Biomagnetism through referrals. We offer financial incentives of 20% session discounts for each referral you provide where a first appointment is completed. For every three successful referrals, we offer a free session.

I, _____, acknowledge that Diana Bush & Steve Labo are certified to provide Biomagnetic Therapy by The University of Chapingo, El Centro de Investigacion de Biomagnetismo Medico, S.C. in Mexico and by Dr. Issac Goiz Duran, MD.

Biomagnetic therapy has no side effects and is compatible with all other medical modalities. It is not a substitute for consultation, evaluation and/or treatment by a licensed physician. Since we are not medical doctors, we do not diagnose, mitigate, prevent, treat or cure any disease. The “Biomagnetic Pair” method is an adjunctive therapy and therefore it is not considered primary healthcare in the United States. Currently there is no practitioner licensing authority for Biomagnetism in the US and the therapy is offered under the terms of California Health Freedom Act SB-577.

By signing below, I agree that I have read and understood all statements above and that I have had the chance to ask questions. I have the right to be informed about the therapy I’ll receive and I have the right to refuse any or all of this therapy. I take responsibility for my own health care decisions.

I have not received chemotherapy and/or radiation within the past 12 months and I’m not scheduled for such at this time. I do not have a pacemaker nor have I had recent surgery.
